FIRST ANNUAL REPORT, 1877-78.

TWICE before has an attempt been made to raise a Volunteer Corps in the City of Bombay, and in both instances failed.

Formation of the Corps.

This, the third attempt, being successful, is entirely due to the indefatigable exertions and patriotic zeal of Mr. W. M. Tennent who, commencing his arduous work in June 1877, was able in two months to send in to Government the names of 300 men willing to become members of a Corps of Volunteers in Bombay; His Excellency the Governor of Bombay consenting to become Honorary Colonel of the proposed Corps; and on the 15th August 1877 the formation of the Bombay Volunteer Rifle Corps was sanctioned by Government in the following order, from which date the Corps may be said to have its origin.

GENERAL ORDERS BY THE HONOURABLE THE GOVERNOR IN COUNCIL.

No. 553 OF 1877.

BOMBAY CASTLE, 15th August 1877.

With the approval of the Government of India, His Excellency the Governor in Council is pleased to sanction the formation of the Bombay Volunteer Rifle Corps from this date. The Corps to be formed for service within the limits of the Island of Bombay.

A nominal roll of the members of the Corps, already reported to be not less than 300, should be forwarded to the Secretary to Government in charge of the Military Department, as early as convenient.

An officer will be nominated hereafter as Commandant of the Bombay Volunteer Rifle Corps.

On the same date Lieut. T. J. Dunne, 2nd Foot, was appointed Adjutant of the Corps ; and four days later, Major Layard, 2-15th, was appointed Commandant.

The first meeting for the purpose of forming a Committee took place on the 21st August 1878, and met at the National Bank, Mr. Baker presiding and Mr. Tennent Officiating as Secretary.

The Minutes of the proceedings of this Committee were read at a largely attended meeting held at the Town Hall some few days later in August, the Hon. Justice Kembell presiding. These proceedings which include the proposed uniform of the Regiment, the drill centres, Head-quarters of the Corps, &c., &c., will be found in Appendices A and B.

The building used as the Presidency Pay Office was now applied for from Government Head-quarters. to be used as the Head-quarters of the Corps. This building not being available, Messrs. Sassoon and Co. most kindly placed a large building in Forbes Street at the disposal of the Regiment, which was used as the Corps Head-quarters for drill, stores, and other purposes, until Government kindly placed the commodious building known as the "Old Sailors' Home" at the disposal of the Bombay Volunteer Corps to be used as the Head-quarters.

Government decided upon the Henry-Martini rifle as the Arms. weapon for the Corps, but owing to the scarcity of these rifles in the various Arsenals the Snider rifle was issued in September '77 as a temporary measure. In November Government resolved in a Resolution No 4571, dated 12th Nov. '77, that the "Martini-Henry should be issued, as it becomes available and reserves admit." Accordingly in the month following the Regiment received the weapon, with which it is now armed—viz., the Henry-Martini pattern of rifle.

The object and composition of the Regimental Committee can be seen in Rule No. XIV of the Rules for the Corps.

Regimental Committee.

At the first meeting of this Committee which took place on 2nd October 1878, the Rules of the Corps (Appendix B.) were framed, and were subsequently sanctioned by Government in Resolution No. 5087, dated 18th December 1877.

The Meetings of this Committee have been held regularly on the first Tuesday of every month, and some of the Chief Resolutions passed during the past year are as follows :—

“ That Captains of Companies collect the subscriptions monthly from the Members of their respective Companies.”

“ That the National Bank be the Bankers to the Corps.”

“ That the Sergeant Major receive Rs. 30 per month from the funds of the Corps.”

“ That Sergeants wear lace on their uniforms the same as the Officers, with the exception of the trousers.”

“ That Companies elect their own officers as vacancies occur, any member of the Corps being eligible for election.”

“ That Hon. Members be permitted to wear the uniform of a Private with an Imperial Crown in silver on each side of collar.”

“ That a Band be raised for the Corps.”

“ That the Pay-master be authorized to pay bills for all ordinary expenses.”

“ That a Cadet Company or Companies be formed.”

“ That an application from the Poona Volunteers to become a Company of the Bombay Corps be accepted (subject to the approval of Government) on condition that the Company should become part and parcel of the Bombay Volunteer Rifle Corps, that it shall conform to all the rules, and adopt the uniform of the Corps of which it will be considered a detached Company at Poona, having its Head-quarters at Bombay, and that it shall be self-supporting."

"That Government be asked to provide colours for the Corps."

"That a Rifle Association be formed and called the Bombay Volunteer Rifle Association."

"That the Old Sailors' Home be accepted from Government as a temporary measure."

In October 1877 His Excellency the Governor made his first inspection of the Regiment, and was pleased to express himself well satisfied with the progress the Corps had made during the short period of its existence. A full account of this parade will be found in Appendix C.

In November 1877 Major Layard, the Commandant, having been promoted into the 1st Battalion of his Regiment in England, left the Corps, and on 6th of that month Lieut.-Colonel Sexton, Bombay Staff Corps, was gazetted Commandant of the Regiment. On the following day the first Government Gazette of Officers for the Regiment was published, and the undermentioned gentlemen received commissions as follows:—

 request of the Brigadier General Commanding the district, the parade being in commemoration of Her Majesty assuming the title of Empress of India.

On the 23rd January 1878 in Resolution No. 350 of that the composition and orders, regarding these three Companies will be found in Appendix D.

On the 12th April 1878 Government sanctioned the Capitation Grant of Rs. 20 for each Cadet who made himself and their men efficient at drill and also in adding to their numbers, as the following table clearly shows :—

The first Annual Inspection of the Regiment was made by Brig. General Aitchison,
1st Inspection. C.B., Commanding Bombay
District, on March 9th 1878.

The numbers on parade were as follows :—

The General expressed himself very well pleased with the various movements done on parade, and stated that the reports he should make to H. E. the Governor and Commander-in-Chief would be favourable ones. Accordingly the following Resolution was published No. 3952, 20th August 1878, "Inspections."

"Resolution.—Government is gratified to find that the report of the first Regimental Inspection of the Corps is so creditable."

A full description of this, the first Annual Inspection Parade, will be found in Appendix E.

Shortly after the first Inspection the following officers and N. C. Officers appeared before a Board and passed a most creditable examination in the subjects laid down in Act XV., Indian Volunteer Regulations.

On March 13th 1878 His Excellency the Governor again inspected the Regiment which turned out for the first time in its full dress uniform. H. E. expressed himself very much pleased with the general appearance and drill of the Corps. After parade His Excellency entertained the Officers and N. C. Officers at breakfast in tents pitched on the Esplanade.

After the ground about Bandora, Byculla, Colaba, Mazagon, and Coorla had been most carefully inspected, the latter was decided on as the most suitable place for a Range.

The Range itself is an admirable one, but the great difficulty of access to it, is doubtless a most serious obstacle. Thanks are due to the G. I. P. authorities for most kindly allowing members of the Corps in uniform to travel both to and fro for single fare.

A large number of the members of the Corps took advantage of the Easter holidays for some shooting at Coorla on the 18th of April and following days; the Maxwell Cup and the Honorary Members prize being the chief events of this meeting.

Shortly after this meeting several Company gatherings took place (vide appendix E) to compete for a large number of very handsome prizes most generously given by Company Officers and others. Among the latter may be mentioned—

Mr. MACLEAN'S Prize.—A handsome Rifle range telescope, value Rs. 150.

Won by Sergeant Whitehead, B Company, and Mr. BEST'S Prize—Rs. 100.

Won by Lce. Corporal Thomson, E Company.

The terms of the Maxwell Cup are—to be won 3 years in succession by a team of 7 from each Company.

Won by G Company, Poona, for '77 and '78.

The shooting of the Regiment during its first annual course '77-78 is fair as shown by the figure of merit of the battalion, viz., 79·18.

The highest score in the Regiment was made by Lce. Corporal A. J. Murray with the splendid score of 173 points.

The figure of merit for the various Companies, the best shots in each Company and the individual performances of every member practised through the whole course may be found in appendices F. and G., which also includes the marksmen of the Corps.

It may not be out of place here, to remind members of the Corps that the Capitation Grant, on which the funds of the Regiment so much depend, is entirely subject to members going through their regular annual course. It is therefore hoped that every member will use his utmost endeavour to make himself an efficient in musketry, as well as at his drill.

On the 17th June 1878, it was resolved to form a "Rifle Association" for the purpose of encouraging continuous practice at the range with the prospect of an Annual Prize meeting. His Excellency the Governor was asked to become Patron of the Association, and the following Committee of Management empowered to draw up rules and regulations for the guidance of the Association.

President.—Major Kemball.

Members.

A. Company—Lt. Chalmers, Serjt. Stewart, Vol. Johnson.

B. Company—Capt. Forbes, Serjt. I. O. M. Herbert, Serjt. Whitehead.

C. Company—Capt. F. Hore, Corpl. Easton, Vol. Burton.

D. Company—Capt. Tennent, Serjt. Pirrie, Vol. Chart.

E. Company—Lt. Lynch, Color.-Serjt. Fretwell, Corpl. Thomson.

The Rules of the Association may be found in Appendix F.

In the formation of a Band for the Regiment great thanks are due to those native gentlemen who subscribed so liberally, most particularly to Mr. Kesewjee Naik, whose very handsome donation of Rs. 2,500 very materially assisted in raising the necessary amount for the purchase of instruments and music requisite for first starting the band.

The expense of a paid band to a Volunteer Regiment is very great as the statement of accounts shows. The pay alone of the members of the band amounts to about Rs. 840 a month.

At a meeting held at Head-quarters on the 11th December 1877, a resolution to Poona Detachment. the following effect was passed — viz., “ That an application from the Poona Volunteers to become a Company of the Bombay Corps be accepted (subject to the approval of Government) on condition that the Company should become part and parcel of the Bombay Volunteer Rifle Corps ; that it shall conform to all the rules and adopt the uniform of the Corps of which it will be considered a detached Company at Poona, having its Headquarters at Bombay, and that it shall be self-supporting.

The sanction of Government having been received in Government Resolution No. 366, 24th January 1878, G.
 Company, Poona Detachment, was formed, and the following officers appointed :—

Captain J. Scorgie, April 16th 1878.

Lieut. S. Phillips, April 16th 1878.

Sub-Lieut A. Smith, April 16th 1878.

The Inspection of this Detachment first was made by General Primrose, C.S.I., Commanding P. D. A., in Sept.
 1878, who expressed himself pleased and satisfied with the drill and appearance of the Company. On this occasion the numbers present on parade were :—

	Officers.	Rank and File.
	2	101
Absent on leave	1	13
	<hr/>	<hr/>
Total strength	3	114

The figure of merit of this Company for its first annual course is 81·13. The best shot in the detachment for that year being—

Sub-Lieut. Smith with 168 points.

The following is the report, dated 31st August 1878, received from Captain W. T. Crockett, Paymaster, Bombay Volunteer Rifle Corps, to whom the thanks of the Corps are due for this officer's untiring zeal and great energy in his hard and arduous duties.

THE PAYMASTER'S REPORT.

In handing in the following accounts closed up to the end of the Regimental Official year, the 31st August 1878, the undersigned regrets the delay that has occurred in preparing them, but in the formation of a regiment it can readily be understood that many unforeseen and unavoidable difficulties must arise, thus delaying the preparation of a first annual statement; experience, however, teaches us how to avoid this, and doubtless future annual accounts will be available, within a short period of the date upon which they are due.

The accounts are taken in the order in which monies have been received for the maintenance of the Corps, and comprise :—

- 1st. The Regimental Fund Account.
- 2nd. The Capitation Grant Account, and Balance Sheet.
- 3rd. The General Balance Account.

REGIMENTAL ACCOUNT.—Shows on the 31st August 1878 a credit balance of Rs. 2,800-14-8, with cash in hands of Paymaster of Rs. 106-6-5, the remainder of sums drawn for, but not expended, on current requirements. The maintenance funds, as the accounts will show, have been made up with subscriptions from Honorary Members, of Rs. 1,300, and Company, and Staff subscriptions, and receipts at Head-quarters, of Rs. 4,773, aggregating with a small sum for interest Rs. 36-10-9, allowed by the National Bank, in which the funds of the Regiment are deposited, Rs. 6,109-10-9, against this sum, the Regiment has had to meet an expenditure of Rs. 3,308-12-1, made up of charges incurred at Head-quarters, to maintain the interior economy of the Regiment. With reference to these items, it will be observed, that rent for Head-quarters, advertisements in the daily papers, and gharry hire, were very high ; but in the statement for the current year these expenses, such as rent of Head-quarters, and certain Staff allowances will pass away ; never, it is hoped, to re-appear, and the experience of the past year will enable us to make a sensible reduction in the other items of expenditure also.

CAPITATION GRANT.—The first Annual Inspection held on the 19th March last, resulted in the Regiment obtaining a grant from Government of Rs. 9,100, made up of the sums of Rs. 3,020, received for 151 efficient, Rs. 5,580 for 186 extra efficient, and Rs. 500 for officers and sergeants who had rendered themselves efficient ; a further sum of Rs. 30 was also received for fines for non-efficiency, thus making a grand total to the credit of this account of Rs. 9,130. The expenses to be met from this grant were many. The first large item of account to meet was for clothing the Regiment which would of itself have exceeded the grant by over Rs. 3,000, seeing, however, that it was essentially necessary to provide money to meet the construction of Rifle Ranges and actual disbursements for Government stores, &c., out of this Fund, proposals were made to the firm of Messrs. Thorpe and Co. as to the supply of clothing, and were responded to in a most liberal spirit, thus enabling a portion of the grant to be diverted to the other items mentioned. Up to this date there have been paid at different times to the above Firm, Rs. 4,800, on clothing account from the Fund, and a sum of Rs. 1,192-8 from non-commissioned officers and men who purchased their own uniforms. There now remains under this head a balance due to Messrs. Thorpe and Co. of Rs. 7,024-13-6, to be met as may be convenient from the next annual grant. the Rifle Range construction at Coorla cost Rs. 1,605-5, and has been generally approved of. As there is a sum now to the credit of this Capitation Grant of Rs. 2,223-5, Members may pertinently ask why such an amount has been kept in hand, with a large clothing account still outstanding. In reply to this, it may be stated, that there is considerable uncertainty as to the expenses that may have to be met from this sum, ere another Capitation Grant falls due, and it was therefore thought but prudent to retain monies in hand to meet any contingency that may arise. It may be here mentioned, that although the Capitation Grant for G. Company, does not come into this Annual Report, that this Company on detachment duty at Poona obtained from the Government a grant of Rs. 2,720. This sum has been retained for the expenses of the Company and does not therefore affect the accounts at Head-quarters.

SUMMARY.

THE GENERAL BALANCE.—The accounts just reviewed thus show that, notwithstanding the very heavy charges the Bombay Volunteer Rifle Corps has been put to in this first year of its existence, clothing and providing helmets for men, purchasing furniture and paying rent for Head-quarters, and other heavy disbursements incidental to the formation of the Regiment, yet it could, supposing the balances to credit of the Capitation Grant and Regimental Fund were applied to this purpose, close its first official year with every debt discharged and no greater debit than the sum of Rs. 2,000-9-10. This will no doubt be most satisfactory to the Corps, and tend to show how well all departments combatant, and non-combatant, must have worked together to bring about such a satisfactory state of affairs.

APPENDIX A.

ON 21st August 1877 a meeting of the enrolled members of the Bombay Volunteer Corps was held in the Town Hall. Major Layard, the Commandant, and Adjutant Dunne were present.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Kenball, who presided, opened the proceedings by calling upon the Hon. Secretary of the Committee appointed at the last meeting to read the minutes of their proceedings.

Mr. W. M. Tennent then read as follows :—

“ At a meeting of the Committee held at the National Bank of India, on Tuesday, the 21st day of August 1877, there were present—Mr. W. A. Baker, Chairman ; Members—Major Layard, Commandant ; Lieut. Dunne, Adjutant ; Messrs. A. McHinch, Wm. Gordon, D. S. Kemp, H. G. Rowell, Jno. Lindley, W. W. Burn, Wm. Lake, Wm. Lord ; and W. M. Tennent, Hon. Secretary.

2. The Chairman announced to the Committee that, since the last meeting, His Excellency the Governor had appointed Major Layard, Commandant, and Lieut. Dunne, Adjutant, B. V. R. ; and these gentlemen having arrived, all arrangements would now be concluded for commencing drill at once. (Loud cheers.) He was pleased to be able to announce that up to the present there were 51 honorary members and 307 effective members who had enrolled themselves. (Cheers.)

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

3. A uniform patrol coat of scarlet serge with blue facings and white lace was then submitted for approval and approved. It was also decided that blue serge trousers, with a white stripe, be adopted for a full dress uniform, and that the new Government pattern helmet be obtained for the corps, and the uniform be submitted to the general meeting for approval. It is estimated that the entire cost will be under Rs. 25. It was resolved that for the present white tunics and trousers shall be used for parades, and that, as soon as the members qualify themselves (which they ought to do in three months) and the corps become entitled to the capitation grant, the full dress uniform be supplied to every qualified member of the corps free of expense. (Loud cheers.)

4. It was resolved that the honorary secretary, in reply to the last letter received from the Military Secretary to H. E. the Governor, offer a suggestion that the buildings now used as the Military Pay Office would be most suitable for head-quarters of the B. V. R., and that we believe they are available, and request permission to occupy them.

5. The approved drill centres for the present are Malabar Hill, Mazagon, Byculla, and the Fort, and it is resolved that separate lists shall be prepared and laid before the general meeting, at which each member will be requested to sign his name to the locality which he elects to be drilled at.

6. It is resolved that a monthly subscription be paid by the members to cover the ordinary working expenses of the corps, and that the amount be for each officer Rs. 5, and for each non-commissioned officer and private Re. 1. (Cheers).

7. The Committee consider it advisable and recommend that as soon as the separate companies are formed that each company proceed to elect its own officers. (Cheers.)

8. This Committee's labours having ceased they now place their resignation in the hands of the general meeting, and announce that from this time forward the corps will be under their Commander and Adjutant who will be assisted in their duties by a committee to be hereafter appointed.

9. It was finally resolved that the general meeting be called for Friday evening next at 5 p.m. at the Durbar Room, Town Hall.

10. There being no further business the meeting was closed after passing a vote of thanks to the Chairman."

The Chairman proposed that a vote of thanks be given to the Committee for the labour and time they have bestowed upon their work.

The motion was carried amid loud cheers.

APPENDIX C.

H. E. THE GOVERNOR.

ON Saturday evening, Oct. 21st, 1877, there was a Parade of the Bombay Rifle Volunteers, on the Esplanade, before His Excellency Sir Richard Temple, the Honorary Colonel of the corps, and Major Layard, the Commandant. There were two hundred and fifty members of the corps present, including officers. They fell in at the Town Hall at 5 p.m., looking soldier-like and trim in their white uniforms, belt, pouches, side-arms and rakishly set forage caps. Major Hamilton Maxwell, and all the officers were present, with Lieut. Dunne, the Adjutant. The companies fell in separately each with its own officers, and after being put through their facings, marched out in a body at quick time, the band of the 20th N. I. leading, passing through Elphinstone Circle, Church Gate Street, by the Queen's Statue, and down a portion of the Esplanade Main Road, to the General Parade Ground, in front of the Gymkhana Club, which was properly marked off with dark blue flags bearing the initials of the corps. As the previous parades had been held near the Cooperage, the line of route from the Town Hall to the Bandstand was largely occupied by spectators, while on the ground itself great numbers of people had taken up favourable positions. Directly it became known that the Volunteers were marching to the General Parade Ground, a rush was made for the latter place, and the Bandstand was in a few moments completely deserted. The Esplanade Main Road was thronged on either side with carriages, and the Esplanade itself encircled with double and treble rows of lookers-on. Ladies and gentlemen left their carriages to get a near view, and the greatest interest was displayed by all classes in the military spectacle before them. His Excellency the Governor and Staff were on the ground, mounted, when the Volunteers marched up, and the Commander-in-Chief and Lady Staveley were also present. After forming into columns, the corps went through the same evolutions as on the previous Saturday and then marched past His Excellency. The marching was remarkably good, and all through the men behaved very steadily, without getting into any confusion. That the Governor was very much pleased at the military bearing of the corps might be conclusively gathered from the short address he made to the Volunteers before they were dismissed, which was not until it was quite dark. In fact, the only drawback of the evening was the short period of daylight that remained for the inspection after the Volunteers arrived on the ground. This could have been obviated had it been so arranged that they should march out of the Town Hall at 5 p.m. exactly, for quite half an hour was wasted there before the men were all properly formed. After a short time, indeed, hardly anything could be seen by the crowd, but an indistinct moving mass of white figures, and when the parade was over, it was long past lamp light. Before their dismissal, square having been formed, the Governor and the Commander-in-Chief and Staff rode into the centre of it, and His Excellency, who was on horseback, addressed the corps.

His Excellency the Governor said: Volunteers, I congratulate you in my own name and in that of the many military officers who have seen this parade, upon the creditable way in which you have, after so short a time of training, gone through the various movements. I have the authority of the General for saying that the wheeling of quarter columns into line and the march past were very well done. The proficiency you have attained shows that you have assiduously attended to your company drill. The number present, I am informed, is 250, and considering that so many members of the corps are absent from Bombay, enjoying a well earned holiday, it is very gratifying that so large a number should have assembled at so short a notice. I am glad to see that your corps has in its ranks a considerable number of very fine men, and when you have had longer practice you will stand fairly a comparison with your comrades of the regular army. The General has mentioned to me what I hope you will bear in mind, that the foundation of everything is careful company drill, and that however pleasant it may be to parade as you have done this evening and go through battalion movements in the presence of great numbers of your fellow-citizens, you would do well not to be too eager for battalion drill, but in the first place make yourselves thoroughly masters of company movements. It is one thing to be inspected by me now, but a much higher standard will be necessary when you are inspected by a general officer. With the same assiduity as you have hitherto shown, you will be soon able to undergo any test. Some of the companies appear to the officers present to be more advanced than the others; those are the Fort Companies. That may be attributed to the fact that the Fort Companies have a convenient drill ground close to the dwellings or places of business of their members. I hope that before long the Malabar Hill and the Mazagon Companies will also have drill grounds conveniently situated. I regret that as this is the first occasion on which I have had the pleasure of inspecting you, that it will be the last on which you will parade under Major Layard, your Commandant. He has devoted himself with great zeal and activity to the organization of your corps, and he has brought it to a degree of efficiency that is creditable and honourable to him and to you. Now when he is about to depart for the old country, we can only express to him our good wishes, and trust that he may entertain the same pleasant recollections of his connection with this corps, as I am sure all of you will retain of him. Lieutenant-Colonel Sexton, who succeeds Major Layard, will carry on that officer's work, and I am sure that under him you will continue to progress as you have steadily done under Major Layard.

His Excellency and suite then rode out of the square and left the ground.

Major Layard soon returned and, addressing the corps in a brief speech, expressed his regret at the termination of his connection with the Bombay Volunteers. He carried away with him none but the pleasantest recollections of the time he was their Commandant, and he thanked the officers and privates for the alacrity and energy with which they had co-operated with him in carrying out whatever was necessary to promote the efficiency of the corps. He hoped they would act as cordially with Lieutenant-Colonel Sexton, his successor, and that the Bombay Volunteers would become as efficient and fine a body as any in India. He would remember them while in England, and if it were his lot to return to India, he hoped to find them second to none in drill and discipline.

The men being then "dismissed" gave several rounds of enthusiastic cheering for their late Commandant, Major Layard, who leaves by troopship on Wednesday. Lieutenant-Colonel Sexton now takes command of the Bombay Volunteers.

After the inspection was over, His Excellency and Staff rode on to the Gynkhana Club House, in the grounds of which the band of the Marine Battalion was playing, where he had been invited by Major Hamilton Maxwell and other members of the Club.

APPENDIX E.

THE INSPECTION OF THE VOLUNTEERS.

THE Bombay Volunteer Rifles were inspected for the first time on Saturday afternoon, March 9th, 1878, and their turn out and appearance, and the excellence of their work showed very clearly that Bombay possesses a corps of which it has every reason to be proud. The men, all looking smart and soldierly in their very soldierlike full dress, with their white trimmed scarlet coats and silver spiked helmets, assembled in front of the Gymkhana tent about four o'clock. First, the non-commissioned officers were called out, formed into sections according to their companies, wheeled into line, and inspected in review order by the Adjutant (Lt. Dunne) and the Sergeant Major (Serjt. Major Kenneyon). Their appearance being reported satisfactory, they were dismissed, and the Company markers were called out, and at the order "fall in on your markers," the six companies formed up in alphabetical order, A. B. C. and so on, and were proved by their own officers after the manner prescribed in the regulations, awkward men being told to fall out. The roll was called at this stage, too, and there were found to be in each company from 23 to 26 files, exclusive of the awkward men, officers, non-commissioned officers, and buglers. When these preliminaries had been gone through, the markers were posted again on the regular military parade ground, at proper company distances, and the companies were marched up, halted, and wheeled into line, and formed open (or review) order. At this point, the inspecting officer (Brigadier General Aitcheson) galloped on to the ground, attended by his staff, and was received with a general salute. The men next stood steady at the "shoulder arms," while the General and his staff, attended by the Commandant of the Corps (Lieut.-Col. Sexton) and the Adjutant, rode along the line, and afterwards they were put through the manual and firing exercises. Then they broke into column to the right, and marched past in column and quarter column and at the double; wheeled into line again, and advanced and retired in line; changed front to the right on No. 1 company; closed to quarter column on No. 1 company; advanced in column; formed square on the leading company, prepared to receive cavalry, and reformed column; deployed to the left; skirmished, with Nos. 1 and 6 companies extended, Nos. 2 and 5 right and left supports, and Nos. 3 and 4 reserves; broke off into companies for company and squad drill under their own officers; formed column again, and were put through a few battalion movements by the Adjutant; and finally marched down the length of the parade ground in review order, when they were halted, the command was given "Nos. 4, 5, and 6 right about turn," and the Commandant rode into the centre of the battalion and addressed the men as follows:—

"I will endeavour to relate to you, as nearly as I can, the words that have just fallen from the officer who has inspected you. They were of the following substance, that on the whole the Brigadier-General was very well pleased with what he has seen. Some of the manœuvres were very good, especially the advance in line. The Company officers have also acquitted themselves well, from what the General was able to see himself and from the reports he has received from his staff officers of those companies that he could not see personally. The Brigadier-General will have much pleasure in making a favourable report of the Corps to H. E. the Commander-in-Chief and to the Governor. So far the General. For myself, I congratulate you upon the success of this your first inspection. The General was good enough to say it could only have been achieved by the co-operation of all, all working with a will. I only hope you will maintain to the end the same spirit which you have manifested from the commencement. There is one other matter which I wish to mention. You all know that H. E. the Governor, Honorary Colonel of the Regiment, has been kind enough to say that he will see the regiment himself on Wednesday morning next. His Excellency has taken, as you know, the greatest interest in the corps, and I am certain that I shall have as strong a muster at that parade as I have to-night. I shall rely upon you to be present to a man. It is a great honour, remember, conferred on the corps. On my own behalf I thank you all—the officers, non-commissioned officers, and men—for the able assistance you have all given me in your respective places to bring the regiment to its present state."

The battalion was then dismissed by the Adjutant.

I am unable to say from personal observation how the movements were executed, and how the corps looked to those outside, because I was in the midst of it all, and had enough to do to attend to my own drill; but they are spoken of by competent judges in words of very warm praise indeed. The Commandant was so pleased that he was heard to say to his Adjutant as they rode off the ground, "I'm the proudest man in Bombay to-night;" and probably most people will agree that the Bombay Volunteers' first inspection, taken, as the General said, on the whole, was one of which they may well be proud. There were mistakes of course—I am told that the execution of the manual and firing exercises was not good ; but the marching past and the advance in review order are pronounced to have been excellently well done.

There was a very large attendance of spectators round the parade ground, amongst whom was the Honorary Colonel, His Excellency Sir Richard Temple, in mufti, and attended by a couple of sowars of his body guard.

Neither the senior nor the junior Major was in attendance. The Company officers absent were—Captain Forbes (sick), Lieut. Campbell (sick) and Lieut. Walton. The officers present, besides Lieut.-Col. Sexton (Commandant), were Captain Baker, F. Hore, Tennent, McIlinch, and Weir ; Lieuts. Moorhouse, Kemp, Freeborn, Wyer, Shields, Chalmers, Thorpe, Mayhew, Bedfords and Manson. The members of the Staff on parade were—Lt. Dunne, Adjutant ; Dr Hughes (Surgeon), Dr. Gray (Surgeon), Capt. Crockett (Pay-master), Quarter-Master Sergeant Pearse.
